UNDESIGN THE RED LINE

A traveling, interactive exhibit by Designing the WE:

Systematic challenges today, like inequalities in housing, education, income, criminal justice and health are far from separate issues. These challenges are rooted in a deep and entangled history of policies, practices and processes that remain unrevealed and misunderstood. This exhibit unearths the history of racist policy that led us here, and explores frameworks for ‘undesigning’ these legacies that connect us to current proposals for the future of Gowanus.
